

Rent and Hospitality: Example Essay

I am a foreigner here in Bolivia, and sometimes it is difficult. I feel lonely, and I miss my family and friends. However, many people here have welcomed me. They have shown me hospitality. To me, hospitality means welcoming all people and treating them with respect and kindness, without asking them to change who they are. For example, my students and colleagues in Bolivia have made me feel like a part of the community, even though I am not from here. Hospitality is important because it allows people from different backgrounds to connect, learn from each other, and take care of each other when they need help. In the movie Rent, we see examples of hospitality when Angel rescues Collins on the street, when Angel brings breakfast to Roger and Mark on Christmas, and when the participants at the Life Support group talk to each other about living with AIDS.

The first example of hospitality in Rent is when Angel rescues Collins on the street. This shows hospitality because Angel takes care of Collins, even though he is a stranger. Hospitality means treating all people with respect and kindness. In this example, Angel shows hospitality because he is kind to Collins. As you can see, showing hospitality is important because when we take care of each other we make our community better.

The second example of hospitality in Rent is when Angel brings breakfast to Roger and Mark on Christmas. This shows hospitality because Angel is very generous. Hospitality means connecting with people and helping each other. In this example, Angel shows hospitality because he celebrates Christmas with Roger and Mark, and he connects with them as friends. This is important because when we make connections with others, we have a stronger community and we can support each other when we need it.

The third example of hospitality in Rent is when the participants at the Life Support group talk to each other about living with AIDS. This shows hospitality because they share their feelings and they support each other. Hospitality means treating people with respect and kindness, no matter who they are. In this example, the participants show hospitality because they show compassion and respect, even to strangers. This demonstrates the power of hospitality to bring people together, even in very difficult circumstances.

In conclusion, there are three key examples of hospitality in the movie Rent: when Angel rescues Collins on the street, when Angel brings breakfast to Roger and Mark on Christmas, and when the participants at the Life Support group talk to each other about living with AIDS. These examples show us that hospitality is an important part of our lives because it helps us to make friends, to take care of each other, and to support each other in difficult circumstances. We should all try to treat each other with hospitality in order to build a stronger, better community.
